“My immediate and future goals would be to get some work experience and at the moment, I’m not too worried about the pay but all I’m worried about is getting some valuable experience in my Accounting field”

Isabel Pervin (Hons. BDEM)

“Before I came to University, I used to be very close minded and did not try to change my beliefs because I was so attached to them. Learning logic and reasoning, and listening to professors has helped me change some of my beliefs that I feel were kind of meaningless and now I am a lot more open minded and willing to accept new ideas”

Tauseef Mamoon (BAS, Hons. Accounting)

“My program effectively prepared me for the next step in my career because it taught me, knowledge wise, what I need to know so I can apply what I’ve learned into practice in the real world. It also helped me to be responsible and develop communication skills which ultimately helped to meet a lot of people from different cultures”

Kafi Craig (BAS)

“The faculty was very warm and accepting and it was a diverse group of students as well. I learned how to be very multicultural”

“New College provided me with the best community there could ever be especially because when I got here, I was a new immigrant and I didn’t know anyone and New College became my second home… literally”

Harold Leung (BAS, Hons. Accounting)

“Get into student groups, it sounds really nerdy, but it’s a really great way to make lasting friendships and do well in class. New College has to some degree provided me with a sense of community within my specialization”

Right: Nick Gandotra (BAS, Hons. Accounting)

“Don’t get overwhelmed take it a year at a time”

“I will mostly miss the friends I have made here and some of the challenges I’ve faced in the classrooms… It has been fun, a lot of fun”

Saying Goodbye to members from NCC 2013-14

From Left to Right: Nipun Gandotra (Hons. Accounting), Will Wolfowich (BAS, Hons. Marketing), Christian Majollet (Master of New College), Katie Di Ilio (Hons. BHRM) and Ryan D’Costa (Hons. ITEC)
Do you play a sport? Come play for New College

Over the last two years, New College Athletics has been the best the college has ever seen. That is in large part to our last two VPs of Athletics and all the effort they put into this position. I know I have big shoes to fill but being on Council has been exciting so far and it gives me a chance to help the New College community grow and prosper. I am looking forward to another great year for athletes. Intramurals has been a big part of my life since I started at York University in Fall 2013 and I want to see our college continue to improve in that respect. I believe that an important part of a strong college community is having a close bond between its members and playing sports is a perfect way to accomplish that. Intramurals run almost every week throughout the year and it is a great opportunity to come out and be involved in the college. I encourage everyone to come out this year and play sports. It is a great environment to be a part of and it is always a lot of fun. I hope everyone has a safe and happy summer. For any questions, do not hesitate to contact me at:

athletics@newcollegecouncil.com. Sign up on www.imleagues.com/yorku and join our Facebook group: New College Eagles Athletics on information about upcoming sports throughout the year.

By: Alessandro Cesario (Vice President Athletics, New College Council 2015-2016)

The York Federation of Students is your central undergraduate students’ union at York University, representing over 50,000 undergraduate students.

YFS is always working towards making sure students are at the forefront of conversations happening at York University that affect your experience. We, the executive team members are committed to working with students to ensure that your voices are heard and your rights are being protected.

We work all summer to get ready for the exciting campaigns that target student issues, big events like York Fest and Multicultural Week, services such as the cheapest printing and school supplies on campus, and ratification of over 300 student clubs! Visit us in Room 336 Student Centre for more information.

Through advocacy work, YFS’s executive team and YFS college or faculty directors provide students with campaigns, exciting events, and cost-saving services to make your experience at York a better one.

To get in touch with us our contact details are on our website: http://www.yfs.ca/

By: Gayle McFadden (Vice President of Operations, YFS)

YU Trivia Answers

1. York University offers over 120 undergraduate programs and offers over 170 degree options.
2. $1 billion!
4. Over 6000 cups of coffee are sold every day on the Keele campus.
5. The Life Sciences building.

By: Vikul Malhotra (First Year, BAS Accounting)

MY IMPRESSIONS ON CANADA’S NEXT TOP AD EXEC

I have always wanted to get into advertising but I never knew how. School is amazing if you want to learn how something works but not if you want to learn how to do that something. The process always seemed obvious: go to school, get those grades, get out, shake the interviewer’s hand, and get the job. And don’t forget to smile—this part’s important. However, in today’s world this notion couldn’t be farther from the truth because your peers become your competition. With a sea of graduates entering the business world every year, suddenly the process doesn’t seem so obvious. Nevertheless, the key is stand out from the swarm of competition. Events like Canada’s Next Top Ad Exec are important because they celebrate the people who rose to the challenge and did something different. If you have the chance to participate in Canada’s Next Top Ad Exec, do it! The case they give you is one of the most practical real world examples you will get in your academic career. It allows you to use all the things you have learned over the past four years in creating a plan companies’ will actually use. I asked several of the marketing execs for career advice and they all agreed with the same process: Go to school, get those grades, do something that stands out, go to Canada’s Next Top Ad Exec, shake some hands, and then you get the job. And don’t forget to smile—this part’s important. I’d like to thank the Executive Team at CNTAE for creating something as special as this competition. My sincere thanks to the Office of the Master, New College for sponsoring me and my advertising Professor Pallavi Sodhi, for giving me the tools and connections which allowed me to appreciate this event.

By: Thomas Kaiko

Next to the prize car: The York U SAS team at CNTAE Finals 2015